One Map Our City

Would Like
Weight Order Revoked

In my spare time I think I shall dream up a new kind of map for the city in which we live.

It would be a map of all the special hazards that greet motorists and pedestrians while traveling our public thoroughfares.

I would mark in red on this map all the high curbs which are a menace to life and limb — and automobile fenders. And X on that map would indicate where I picked up a couple of new debts yesterday.

Of course Hope's high curbs have one salutary effect. Nobody around our town ever grows old. They might drop dead from over-exertion — but while they're able to move at all they're as agile as a mountain goat: They have to be, to get up and down our altitudinous curbstones.

We inherited our high curbing, of course, from the town's ancestors who ran street and sidewalk levels "as is."

But to this natural hazard modern men have added another: The city has mounted its white Way lamp posts on concrete pillars that are guaranteed to wreck an automobile fender without much provocation.

Of course there is an element of justice in this. The city has lost many a lampost due to assault and battery by an automobile and now the lampost is striking back.

In Little Rock yesterday the Arkansas Highway Commission wisely revoked its earlier order increasing the load limit on state highways.

The maximum overall limit, raised to 12,000 pounds, now returns to the original figure of 55,000 pounds.

The commission gave as its reason for the reversal, as the facts that it had discovered it had no authority to make the weight limit change. But it was helped toward this decision by a determined and vocal public outcry.

Arkansas' highways are in no shape to carry even the original load limit, much less the proposed higher weight. Public roads, especially those designed for transcontinental routes such as U. S. 67, ought to be improved so they can accommodate the greater traffic and heavier machines of the postwar period — but it's idle to talk about this until we have spent millions of dollars repairing the deterioration and damage of the war years.

Tuberculosis X-Ray Survey July 19-20

Joe Jones was appointed Chairman of the Executive committee of the Hope T. B. Survey at a meeting under the sponsorship of the Public Health and Recreation committee of the Hope chamber of commerce at the City Hall last night.

Other members of the Executive committee are Teddy Jones, Geo. Frazier, Mrs. Delton Houston, and Mrs. J. W. Branch. The Executive committee will meet this afternoon at the City Hall with Charles Raymorn, president of the Hempstead County Tuberculosis Association; M. Arnette Field, representative of the Arkansas State Board of Health, and Mrs. J. W. Perkins, who has been appointed Executive director of the Hempstead County Tuberculosis Association to direct the survey. This meeting, at 3 p.m., will be a planning meeting, and Sub Committees on Finance, Publicity, volunteer work, scheduling, business cooperation, industrial cooperation, churches and several other committees will be appointed.

Present at last night's meeting, under the chairmanship of the E. H. Stewart were Mrs. J. W. Branch, of Oglesby P. T. A., Mrs. Claude Tillery, president of the High school P. T. A., Mrs. Chas. R. R. City Clerk, Joe Jones, commander of the American Legion, John L. Wilson, Jr., President of the Lion's Club, Dr. Herbert Rogers, public Health Officer, Mrs. Delton Houston, president of Brookwood P. T. A., Harvey Holt, Kiwanis club, Mrs. E. E. Formby, and Miss Inez Staats, from the Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Mrs. Bay Turner, Reverend S. A. Whitlow, president of the Ministerial Alliance, and B. D. Forsythe, Manager of the Hope Chamber of Commerce.

Balance of SPG Land Up for Sale

Some 4,901.81 acres of land in the Southwestern paving Grounds, a wartime ammunition testing site, will be up for sale to original owners, veterans on a priority basis in the near future, it was learned here today.

The land has already been turned over to Jerome Smith, head of the local Federal Land Bank office here, for appraisal and preparation for reselling.

Disposal of this tract will complete land sale in the area. Only a few hundred acres considered unsafe have been fenced in by the government. The entire area covered over 33,000 acres.

Most of the 4,901 acres now up for sale lies south of the Washington East road.

Cloudburst, Hail Takes Lives of 42 in Mexico

Pachuca, Mexico, June 25 (UPI)—At least 42 persons died here last night when a cloudburst, hail storm and flash flood ravaged this centuries-old silver mining town authorities said today.

Nineteen women, fifteen men and eight children were counted among the victims of the 20-minute-long storm.

In addition to the known dead, 40 persons were injured seriously and from 200 to 400 had been reported missing.

Most of the victims died in the crowded Juarez market area. Flood waters battered down one wall of the market and filled it to a depth of about ten feet.

"It was like dumping a pail of water into a dish," said Luis Moreno, a volunteer worker. "The waters smashed down the two streets that channel into the market and just filled it up. The people who had jammed the place to get out of the rain drowned without a chance."

The raging waters scattered heavy refrigerators, tore away steel doors on buildings and, at the height of the brief tempest, pushed in two-feet thick brick walls.

The waters spread out over business and residential districts for a distance of almost a mile around the flooded market. They reached a depth of about six feet for a time but receded in a few hours.

Though authorities believed the dead toll will grow as search continues, they were inclined to feel that the number of missing persons would drop as confusion passes.

Three Nations to Hold Key Elections

By the Associated Press

Three nations — Canada, Belgium, their future courses in elections this week.

Canadians will decide by ballot Monday which party they think will better advance the prosperity of Canada's 13,000,000 citizens. They have the choice of reelecting the Liberal administration of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent or turning to the Progressive Conservatives.

Chief and traditional political force of the liberals is the progressive conservative party led by the former premier of Ontario, George Drew. Socialism is represented by the cooperative commonwealth federation (CCF) led by M. J. Coldwell. There are several minor parties.

A total of 954 candidates seek 262 seats in Canada's 21st parliament. Newfoundland will vote as a province of Canada for the first time.

There is a royal issue in Belgium. The nation's largest party, the social Christians, is supporting a proposal that former King Leopold III be put back on the throne. He now is in exile in Switzerland.

Many Belgians resent the fact that Leopold surrendered his country to the Nazis instead of fleeing to set up a government to fight in exile as did Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and other rulers.

The return of Leopold is opposed by the Socialists, Communists and Liberals.

The social Christians promise that if they form the government they will hold an early referendum on the royal issue.

Voting will take place Sunday, and women will cast their ballots for the first time in Belgium. Voting will be done by secret ballot for the first time.

Paul-Henri Spaak, premier and minister of foreign affairs is up for re-election.

Syria is holding a rubber stamp election today — there is only one presidential candidate on the ballot. He is Col. Husni Zayim, military governor of the country since he ousted the previous regime last March. Besides approving Zayim as president, the people are asked to vote on whether they want free elections held regularly and a new constitution.

Ouachita Oil Tests Nearing Final Stages

Stephens, June 25 (UPI)—Three oil tests are nearing final stages in the Hamilton area, Ouachita county, two miles west of Stephens.

Lyon and Prentiss's P. C. Grayson, southeast quarter section 15-19, reports 23 feet of good pay sand tapped at 3212 feet. Casing has been set at 3220 feet and the test is due to be complete not later than Monday.

McAlester Fuel Oil company is reported drilling near 300 feet in the D. Eaton A-1 in section 20-19 a fourth mile east of the Grayson test. This may determine the direction of the Hamilton pool and is being watched by oil men for that effect.

Peterson Drilling company's B-2 in the northeast quarter section 19-19 is testing with casing set at 3310 feet. A good short stringer of sand was listed and a good gusher is anticipated.

"We plan to make no new requests to the Russians," said Capt. Harry Youngren, army public information officer. "The matter is out of our hands for the time being."

The Russians apparently were taking the stand that they will not move any trains across their zone from western Germany to Berlin until the tide of war turns.

Burnett Drilling company's Kate Curry wildcat test in section 5-15-19 is said to be drilling near 4000 feet.

Reynolds Metal Strike in Arkansas May Be Averted

Little Rock, June 25 — (UPI)—A strike of CIO employees of Reynolds Metals company in Arkansas still may be averted.

Nearly 650 employees have voted unanimously to strike July 1 when the present contract ends. Results of voting by other employees those at the Hurricane Creek plant were to be announced today.

However, Charles A. Wheeler, Little Rock, a conciliator for the federal conciliation mediation service, said last night that at his request union and company officials would meet with him Monday in the hope of resuming negotiations for a new contract, broken off several days ago.

Besides Hurricane Creek, employees involved are at the Bauxite mines near Bauxite and at the Jones mill plant.

Wage scales and other matters are in dispute.

The employees are members of the United Steel Workers of America (CIO).

Talks on Coal Contracts Hit Critical Stage

Pittsburgh, June 25 — (UPI)—The national 48,000 United Mine Workers began their annual 10-day vacation today as new contract negotiations headed toward the critical stage.

A major part of the soft coal industry recessed negotiations yesterday. It was indicated some progress had been made.

However, the negotiators will be racing against time when they meet again next week. The UMW contract runs out June 30. There's no question at least part of the industry will be struck if a new contract hasn't been signed by the time the miners end their holiday.

The vacation is the third work stoppage of the year for the UMW miners but the first for which they'll be paid. They get $100 apiece from the operators.

In March the miners quit work for two weeks to protest appointment of Dr. James Boyd as director of the U. S. bureau of mines and to memorialize miners killed and injured in 1948.

Last week they were at it again, this time as the result of a "standstill" walkout ordered by John Lewis, militant leader of the UMW.

Lewis called both walkouts under a contract clause calling for his men to work only when "willing and able." The southern coal producers, especially those designed for transcontinental routes such as U. S. 67, ought to be improved so they can accommodate the greater traffic and heavier machines of the postwar period — but it's idle to talk about this until we have spent millions of dollars repairing the deterioration and damage of the war years.

Swindler's Charm That Took Million Dollars Off Fifty Women Doesn't Impress Police

By JAMES MARLOW
Truman's Plan for Postmasters Gets Support

Washington, June 25 (UPI)—President Truman's request that congress take postmasters out of politics won unexpected support today from patronage-conscious Capitol Hill.

Nevertheless, the country and white-haired 73-year-old congressman managed to soften the heart of his latest victim, Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39, who had long sought to track him down.

Mrs. Corrigan turned to attack Engel when she first saw him last night. But after a few minutes of smooth sweet talk from him, she seemed almost to forget the $8,700 he took her for during a whirlwind courtship.

Engel promised he would pay her the money back. He even handed her $400 from his billfold. "I believe him, I really believe him," Mrs. Corrigan said. "He seems like such a poor tired old man."

Engel was captured late yesterday in a trap set with the aid of a woman he was trying to bait into a new love swindle. He had already proposed to her and was arranging their "honeymoon."

Detectives said they would question him throughout the weekend before his appearance Monday in a felony court on charges of swindling Mrs. Corrigan. The charge carries an automatic $10,000 bond.

Engel was captured yesterday in a swank Michigan boulevard luggage shop as he bought luggage with Mrs. Genevieve Perro, 59, for a "wedding trip" to Kansas City.

Mrs. Perro's description of the love bandit's technique closely paralleled that described by other victims — mostly lonely widows and divorcees — from New York to California.

Prominent house members said they were in agreement with the plan.

Chairman Murray (D-Tenn) of the house postoffice committee, which will handle the President's proposal, was not available for comment.

While there may be some opposition to taking postal patronage away, they said, many democratic members of the house will consider it good riddance.

"Postal patronage has always been a headache," said one. "You can get the job for only one person, and the losers get sore."

And, since Republicans get no patronage anywhere under a democratic congress, they were inclined to favor the President's proposal.

No one, though, would permit use of his name.

Acheson Says Russia Is Now on Defensive in 'the Fight for the Soul of Europe'

By DeWITT MACKENZIE,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Secretary of State Acheson tells us that one of the conclusions to be drawn from the recent Paris conference of the Big Four foreign ministers is that Russia now is on the defensive in what he graphically describes as "the struggle for the soul of Europe."

That also is the consensus of observers. To get the full significance of the situation, however, I think we must view it on a global basis. We mustn't forget that Russia, since its inception as a Bolshevik state, has aimed at "world revolution" to communism, all countries and bring them under the direction of Moscow.

Our problem in effect has to be worked out on a military basis. The conflict has most aptly been described as a "cold war" — and not so cold either.

The battle of Europe was a natural corollary of the world war in that theatre. We can go further and say, it was a calculated corollary from the Russian standpoint, because Moscow's military policies in many instances were aimed at creating post-war conditions which would favor the spread of communism. The disposition of Russian troops was an important part of the plan.

With the ending of the world war, the Russians immediately launched their drive for the establishment of communism in the various countries which the Red troops occupied. They made hay while the making was good, and before the Western powers had time to figure out just what was happening to them.

The Russian offensive until Moscow had a strong grip on virtually all eastern Europe and a goodly slice of central Europe as well. Finally the western allies got into action and halted the Russian advance by means of a political-economic offensive, coupled with such defensive measures as the formation of the Atlantic pact.

So the Muscovites were indeed on the defensive in Europe. And that represents a great success for the democracies, but the analysis can't stop there. Coincident with the blocking of Red machine increase in Communist activities in Europe there has been an in the Far East. The revolution in that theatre is swelling into a major conflict which may even exceed the European battle in intensity.

What does this mean? For one thing it means that the Muscovites are good generals. When they come up against an immovable front in one theatre, they strike suddenly in an area where the democracies aren't so well organized. Meantime they defend and consolidate the ground already won in the first theatre.

It is true that continued pressure by the democracies in Europe, coupled with growing discontent among the Red satellites, may produce a further setback for the Communists. Let's believe it will.

Meanwhile, however, is boiling up in the Orient, and on the whole is encountering relatively light resistance from the western democracies. That may become the major theatre of operations — the Asian theatre.

We should watch it.

Klein Slugs Cards Into First Place

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals, by the grace of baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, occupied first place in the National League today.

The high-flying Redbirds, sparked by the addition of the recently reinstated Lou Klein, defeated the Boston Braves, 8-4, last night to wrest first place from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The victory, coupled with Pittsburgh's 4-2 triumph over Brooklyn, enabled the Cardinals to take a half-game lead over the Dodgers.

Two home runs by Klein, who along with other Mexican league players, had his suspension lifted by Chandler early this month, played a very prominent role in the Cardinals' victory.

Lou smashed his first in the second inning to put his team ahead, 3-1. After Boston had taken a 4-3 advantage, Klein came through with his second round-tripper to tie the score at 4-4, and pave the way for the defeat of Braves' Rookie Johnny Antonelli.

Since Klein was taken over for the ailing Marty Marion at shortstop, the Cards have won seven and lost two. Besides fielding in fine style, Klein has been coming through with some clutch hits to compile a creditable .281 batting average.

Ralph Kiner's first inning home run with two mates aboard — his 18th of the season — gave the Pirates their victory over Brooklyn. Kiner's blow and his eighth-inning single were the only hits made by Pittsburgh.

The powerful Boston Red Sox slugged St. Louis hurlers Joe Ostrowski, Al Papai and Ray Shore for 25 hits to bury the Browns under a 21-2 score. Ted Williams led the merciless attack with his 18th and 19th homers, scored four runs and drove in seven to boost his 62-game total to 77. Everybody in the lineup hit safely, and everyone with the exception of catcher Birdie Tebbets registered his seventh victory with a five-hitter.

The New York Yankees increased their American League lead over Philadelphia to five and a half games, defeating the Detroit Tigers, 5-4, while the A's bowed to the Chicago White Sox, 2-1.

Yogi Berra drove in his team's first four runs with a double and home run. Tommy Henrich's seventhinning single drove in Charley Keller from second with the tie-breaking run.

Joe Page relieved Allie Reynolds in the seventh after Vic Wertz' two-run single tied the score at 4-4, and held the Tigers scoreless the rest of the way.

Bob Feller won his third straight and his fourth of the season, pitching the Cleveland Indians to an 8-2 victory over the Washington Senators. He has lost six.

Hank Sauer's eighth four-bagger, his fourth since he joined Chicago, helped the Cubs defeat the New York Giants, 6-2.

The scheduled night game between the Philadelphia Phils and Reds in Cincinnati was postponed by rain.

Masons to Meet

All Masons are asked to meet at 7:30 Monday at Masonic Hall for a Fellowcraft Degree, it was announced today.

To Buy Or Make Is Up to Housewife

Sales on cotton dresses this month may tempt consumers to go out and buy half a dozen so they can wear a fresh dress nearly every day in the week. Prices on ready-made dresses seem to be coming down, but often the prices on piece goods, so the consumer must decide whether it is better to buy dresses ready-made or to make them. If the decision is to buy dresses ready-made, home demonstration agent Lorraine Blackwood suggests these things to keep in mind.

If it is a house dress, it should fit comfortably around the hips, bust and waistline and upper arms. Be sure the waistline is at the right place and that the skirt is a becoming length. Test for roominess by reaching the arms upward, as in getting a hat from a closet shelf. Sit down in the dress to check the fit while seated.

Read the label attached to the dress. Is the dress color fast to sun and washing? Is the shrinkage controlled? Does the cloth in the dress have a crease-resistant finish or a permanent finish that eliminates starching, or is it one that will disappear when the garment is washed? This information is obtained from a label or from the clerk, and many times she will know.

Workmanship can be judged by looking at the inside of the dress. Are seams wide enough to wear well and be let out if needed? Are pleats wide, gathers generous, and hems wide? These are earmarks of quality. Lines of machine stitching should be straight and the stitches should be short.

Pockets, pleats, and other trimmings may be attractive, but they usually add to the cost. Too much trimming makes ironing more difficult.

Shirts that are too full and ties that are too long get in the way when one is working and may even cause an accident.

Belts should be made of cloth and not of imitation leather, which cannot be cleaned and washed. Buttonholes should be well made and placed close together to hold the dress in shape. Buttons should be washable and smooth so that they do not cause unnecessary wear on the buttonholes.

During the social hour the chapter enjoyed delicious refreshments.

Kitchen Is Busiest Room in the House

The kitchen is the busiest room in the Hempstead county home especially during the summer canning season. It is also the most dangerous room, according to safety advisors of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. During National Farm Safety week and all the year around, homemakers may well give earnest consideration to kitchen figures and ways to make their kitchens safer, Lorraine Blackwood, home demonstration agent, advised.

Almost one out of every five home accidents, causing injuries serious enough to require hospital care occurs in the kitchen, according to National Safety Council estimates. These accidents include falls, burns and scalds, collisions and bumps, bruises and poisoning. More than half of these kitchen accidents are burns: lifting the lid of kettles, steam and hot liquids the most frequent. Carelessness more often is the cause of these burns than poor kitchen equipment. Simple precautions that will prevent many burns are: lifting the lid of kettles so that the steam escapes away rather than toward the worker; turning pot handles so that they do not extend over the edge of the stove; using pot holders that are thick and dry.

Children as well as housewives are among the chief sufferers from kitchen scalds and burns. Safety advisors agree that flat paint is better than oil paint and that the advantage of being washable. Flat gloss paint on walls may be too glaring. Paint on walls, but many houses are semi-gloss paint that are easily cleaned walls in kitchens, laundries, and children's rooms.

Children are playing in corners away from the stove, is fenced off for them.

About one in ten of the falls causing death or injury takes place in the kitchen. Hazards causing falls are highly polished linoleum or floors made slippery by spilled grease, water or fruit peeling. Also the use of chairs, stools or ladders instead of safe kitchen ladders for reaching high shelves should be considered. Avoid waxing the kitchen floors, however attractive it may be, the home demonstration agent said. Wipe up immediately anything spilled on the floor. Arrange adequate and orderly storage places so that no articles are left on the floor as tripping hazards. Keep knives and children stored out of the way of children.

The advantage of smooth surfaces in turning off dust is worth considering in both finishing and furnishing the house. Gloss paint gives a smoother surface than flat paint and has the advantage of being washable. Flat gloss paint on walls may be too glaring. Paint on walls, but many houses are semi-gloss paint that are easily cleaned walls in kitchens, laundries, and children's rooms.

Both smooth and flat paint are good for walls, but smooth paint is better for curtains and upholstered furniture. Linoleum makes a smooth, easy-to-clean floor surface. The dustiness of cement floors in basements may be prevented by covering with asphalt tile, Mrs. Blackwood stated.

Dust that collects behind pictures often leaves marks on walls. Thumb tacks on the back of pictures at the lower edge hold the picture away from the wall on that dust does not gather.

An obvious but often neglected way to keep dirt from being tracked through the house is a thick doormat outside every entrance. Such a mat is easy to shake clean and should be kept so, if it is to do a good job of dirt prevention.

Many Hempstead county homes are using an electric ventilating fan in the kitchen to carry off much of the volatile grease which tends to settle on walls, ceilings, and cupboards and catch dirt, Mrs. Blackwood said.

Mother Needs a Vacation

By the Associated Press

Nashville's Vols took their second straight game from the New Orleans Pelicans last night, 7 to 5, to move into second position in the Southern Association pennant race as Atlanta sat.

The Crackers dropped their third consecutive game to the Travels of Little Rock, 7 to 6. Local dwelling

Birmingham shelled the ceiling

Memphis Chicks, 8 and 1.

A scheduled game between the Chattanooga Lookouts and the Bears at Mobile was postponed because of wet grounds.

Atlanta had the largest crowd,

6,598, as wild pitching cost the

Crackers the game. The Trav

in the eighth, Art McConnell, Trav pitcher, singled to bring Johnny

Grice home in the final inning with the winning run.

Atlanta almost had this one on with a 4 to 2 edge in the seventh frame. But Al Hodkey lost his control in the next inning and the Trav used his two walks and a handful of hits to pile up four runs in that round.

Then McConnell cinched his ninth victory of the season by driving in Grice for the final tally.

ed Polly Riley, Fort Worth, 2-1, mostly on the strength of a three hole lead she developed on the first nine.

Prairie Grove to Help Negro Who Is an Ex-Slave

Prairie Grove, June 24 — (P) former slave and the only Negro ever living in Prairie Grove, is going to have a new home.

Wilson, has been living in a former trailer — packing box size—but will move soon to a building given him by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bain.

Prairie Grove residents are raising funds to reroof the building and furnish it for him. Work has started on the dwell-

Clark Orders Full Probe of Klan

Washington, June 24 — (P) Clark ordered a full field investigation by the justice department into recent night rider violence in Alabama.

The announcement said that members of the Ku Klux Klan were "purported" to be involved. At the same time a congressional committee ordered public hearings on Alabama lynchings. Some southern representatives warned congress to keep hands off.

The hearings will start before a house judiciary subcommittee next Wednesday, with Clark of Starkville, Birmingham post, reported as the first witness and Clarence Lake of the Birmingham news likely to follow him.

Rep. Battle (D-Ala.) in whose Birmingham district the lynchings occurred, said his federal agents would "deter" rather than expedite justice.

"Lawless elements," Battle said, "thrive on outside interference."

"The best way congress can deal with this situation is to stay out and clean it up ourselves."

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.) occurred.

Referring to the inquiry ordered by judiciary committee chairman Cellar (D-N.Y.), Rankin said:

The less the gentleman from New York, Mr. Eller, sticks his nose into our affairs, the better it will be.

Attorney General Clark said he has "instructed" his federal agents to investigate alleged lynchings by a hooded mob in Brookhaven, Ala. on the night of June 10, when a number of persons were reported to have been mistreated.

Teddy's Rough Riders Hold Convention

Las Vegas, N. M., June 24 — (P) "Colonel" Teddy's men came back today to hold what is probably their final convention in the town that saw their first one — back in '39.

After half a century, Teddy Roosevelt's rough riders association was just about at the end of the trail today as a group. Less than 30 grizzled veterans of San Juan Hill, Las Guasimas and El Caney were expected during the convention which ends tomorrow night.

The first to register was G. A. Rolland, Oil City, Pa.

The president is David M. Goodrich, Detroit, chairman of the board of B. F. Goodrich and Co. He sent word recently he "might" make it in spite of his doctor's instructions that he avoid the trip.

Trimble Opposes Bill to Abolish Poll Tax Plan

Washington, June 25 — (P) Rep. Trimble (D-Ark.) is one of a minority house committee group opposing a bill to abolish poll tax as a requirement for voting.

The minority of the committee on house administration ways and means approached the committee on a constitutional amendment.

The committee voted, 11-7, to recommend the bill.

Rep. Trimble said he believed the bill is a clear infringement on the constitutional provision giving states the power to determine qualifications of electors.

He added, however, he opposes the poll tax and will support the proposal to submit the constitutional amendment.

Average consumption of meat in America in 1948 included 63 pounds of beef, nearly 68 pounds of pork and 14 pounds of veal, lamb and mutton.

A church home for those away from home and a welcome to all.

The itching sensation from chiggers comes from a tiny spurt of saliva which the insect injects when it bites a person.

It is one of the little ironies of life that the one individual who needs a vacation seldom gets it. That's mother. All the remainder of the family get tired and need a change and rest and diversion, but mother is supposed to get all the recreation she requires in slaving for the remainder of the family and seeing that they have a good time. Yet mother's work is the hardest, the most monotonous, the most never-ending in the world. There is no union card and six-hour day for her. She doesn't even get laid off on a strike.

Of course, in well-to-do families mother gets an alleged vacation when she takes the children and goes off to spend a month or so in the country, where she has to work ten times as hard as she does at home because there are no city conveniences and no market handy right around the corner.

Mother always returns from these holidays looking as though she had been dragged through a keyhole, yet she seems to have to go out to keep a lot of bored children amused and nurse them through spells of ivy poisoning and cuts and bruises and too much green fruit.

Trask was with me and he ratified our off figures. "Two dollars a ton across 3 and one-half feet, $25 a ton across six inches. Works out around $5 average. What Cory gets is that in the old days that streaks of high-grade was wider."

Harrison Has 3-Stroke Lead in Final Round

Toronto, June 25 (P)—Sixty-six golfers set out in pursuit of E. J. (Dutch) Harrison today in the final round of the Canadian open championship, but less than half a dozen had any hope of catching him.

The slow-talking pro from Little Rock, Ark., has knitted together three straight sub-par rounds of 66-67-71 for a 54-hole total of 204. This gives him a three-stroke lead going into the final four of St. George's par 72 course.

The closest threat was Dick Metz, a veteran tournament performer from Virginia Beach, Va., who rang up his third straight 69 for a 207 total. Jerry Barbee, Los Angeles and Fred Hawkins, Antioch, Ill., were next with 208's.

The rest of the field, cut from 100 to 66 for the windup 18 holes, included such standouts as Jim Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., and Jim Ferrier of Chicago, with 210's, and Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., the U. S. open runnerup with 211.

Their real interest lies in the future of their loved ones, or, in some cases, ex-loved ones who have them under continuing obligations for alimony. Those are noble sentiments and break down and splatter many tears when a dumb spaniel comes ashore with a stick, but still I want to know why I have to be cut in on their obligations and woes. Will they do as much for me? Who is going to pension us petty stockholders, the backbone, or the life-blood, if you like that better, of free-enterprise who keep renewing the venture-capital or sucker-money in the busy and perilous marts of trade with the little drabs and drabs after taxes and contributions to our own loved ones? It may surprise them to learn that we have loved ones, too, and that a head of a family making $200 or $300 a week is living along the line of the five-thousand also pays taxes and hurts when kicked and bleeds when stuck even as the chairman of the board on his $100,000 or $20,000 a year, with his bonus or incentive pay.

Yes, I do realize that a man getting $150,000 a year for his conscientious thrift in running International Beetle, Ltd., of which I am faceless owner to the extent of ten shares, on the mere purchase of which I had to pay a commission and a tax, probably will have no more than $50,000 left when federal and state have done plucking. But quit breaking my heart. Do you think the stockholders get a pass? And, after all you know, on $50,000 a year, a truly frugal fellow, stuffing away odd ornaments in the cookie-jar and behind the clock could lay up a pretty fair social security of his own and keep his self-respect.

More than anything else I hate to hurt people's feelings and I hope you'll understand that there is nothing personal or racial in these comments on the conduct of this otherwise admirable minority group, but, frankly, I think the corporation executives pay themselves too much, anyway. They think $50,000 a year is aittance. Twice that much is just barely above the level of respectability and $150,000 represents only moderate success.

Frankly, an executive can be of great good to deserve $50,000 in my scale, and I want him to help instead of sulking about his take-home. I didn't invent the income tax. I have got troubles of my own.

Next Wednesday the Legions will vote on Waldo at Fair park in what should be one of the best games this season since the locals start after the Giants scalp after dropping two games to them this season.
